LATE NEWS FROM MAUI.

Base Ball Enthusiasts Talk of New League.

TEACHERS IN HANA DISTRICT.

Dr. Raymond Assumes Duties as Gov-ernment Physician—Book Club Formed—Scotchmen Going Home. Circuit Court Will Very Soon Meet.

MAUI, Nov. 9.—"Dead as Chel-sea," as the saying is in Boston, might fittingly be applied to the recent dullness in Wailuku and Makawao districts. All interest in social matters died when the sum-mer visitor departed. As to polit-ics, it is stated that only one gen-tleman on Maui still discusses them.

In police circles the "minions of the law" have made their weekly scoop of opium fiends and petty gamblers—simply this and noth-ing more. To be sure, the deputy sheriffs have been busy serving subpoenas for attendance at the next jury term, but this only deep-ens the gloom, for citizens do not relish a long jaunt to a far corner of Maui, especially when the great-est good to the greatest number could be much better rendered by having both court terms at Wailuku.

Circuit Judge J. W. Kalua will conduct trials by jury at Lahaina, beginning December 4th. During the 1st inst., Dr. Ray-mond entered upon his duties as Government doctor and hospital physician, and thus is ended a con-troversy of long standing among Wailuku people, the pros and cons regarding rival doctors. Both Ray-mond and Armitage had ardent friends. Both are said to be able men, hence the controversy and hence congratulations and regrets.

Among Wailuku teachers there is some talk of reorganizing their reading circle, though nothing has been done up to date. Lahaina continues to hold weekly sessions. Makawao and Hana have not been heard from.

It seems that the Board of Edu-cation have adopted to some extent a method of grading salaries, though nothing to that effect has been pub-lished. Hence it behooves teachers to read and study so as to pass bet-ter examinations and thus to in-crease their yearly stipends.

Approps of reading circles, Maka-wao has recently formed a book club. Popular books are to be pur-chased around among the mem-bers, each clubman being allowed to retain a book two weeks. The annual fee is to be $1.50.

Last week H. S. Tregloan, the Honolulu tailor, visited Wailuku and Makawao.

Miss Panui, a graduate of Mauna-lu Seminary, is assisting Miss Martha Beckwith in the Haiku school.

It is reported that school teach-ers and other Government employ-ees are no longer exempt from jury duty.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Stolz depart this week to take up a temporary residence in Honolulu.

W. E. K. Maikai, formerly a teacher at Keokea, Kula, is now a policeman at Spreckelsville.

Jack Hair, sugar boiler at Hama-kupoko, has recently returned from a three months trip to Scot-land.

A baseball game between Laha-ina and Lahainaluna took place at the ball-ground in Lahaina Novem-ber 9th. Quite a crowd attended, and although it was the first game for two years, some very good play-ing was exhibited. The score was Lahaina 17, Lahainaluna 10. De-puty Sheriff Baldwin and Alfred Hayselden umpires. It is ex-pected the return game will be played on Thanksgiving. There is a plan to form a Maui league, which it is hoped will unite Laha-inaluna, Lahaina, Waikapu, Wailuku, and perhaps a Molokai and a Makawao nine. The initial steps are to be taken soon.

The Hana teachers met this week for the first time this term at the Hana schoolhouse. The fol-lowing teachers were present: President B. K. Kaiwiae, Vice-President Mr. Abbott, Secretary W. A. Yeats, Treasurer Mrs. B. K. Kaiwiae. The different subjects were: Singing, Mr. Katama; geog-raphy, Mr. Kaiwiae; writing, Mrs. Kaiwiae; reading, W. A. Yeats; busy work, Mr. Abbott; primary arithmetic, Mr. Holoka-hiki. The principal of the school having detained a class for the teachers to work on and show their methods of teaching, the meeting was opened with singing by the children. This is the second meet-ing of the Hana teachers for this year and was quite successful in bringing out ideas and views. Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrans at the Kipa-hulu school were unfortunately sick and unable to be present. It appears they have not enjoyed very good health since at Kipa-hulu. The next meeting takes place at their schoolhouse so they will be present. The organization is rather few in numbers, but there is plenty of enthusiasm and the three new teachers in this district will be a great help.

SENATOR HILL LECTURED.

"Old Landmarks" His Subject Before the Michigan University.

Four Changes in the Constitution Recommended by the Statesman.

ANN ARBOR, (Mich.) Oct. 25.—Senator David B. Hill lectured before a large audience in Univer-sity Hall to-night, his subject being "Old Landmarks." He dwelt in length upon the Declara-tion of Independence, the Revolu-tionary War and the Constitution as landmarks of American history. Jefferson was extolled as a great constructive statesman, who would be remembered by millions when Hamilton would be remem-bered by but a few. An epitome of the landmarks of the revolu-tionary struggle was given. The constitution was described as the greatest document ever given to the world by statesmen.

But few changes in it could be suggested to-day. Four changes were advocated by Senator Hill. First, that the Presidential term be increased to six years, and the President be ineligible for re-elec-tion. Second, that United States Senators be elected by the people. Third, that the President be al-lowed to veto individual items in appropriation bills. Fourth, that paper currency should not be issued.

The Senator explained that by this he meant mere promises of the Government to pay money should not circulate as legal tender.

A history of the legislative action and judicial decisions in this matter was given to bring out the point that the old land-marks of hard money should be again recognized as the founda-tion of our financial system. The present system of bond issues is the evil result of the system of legal tender currency or green-backs.

Senator Hill received a great ovation. He paid a glowing tribute to the University of Michigan and made a good impression upon the audience. He leaves here to-night for Lima, Ohio, where he will make four speeches.

AMERICAN SYMPATHY.

The Government Called Upon to Give Help to the Armenians.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The national conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches to-day adopted a resolution protest-ing against the outrages com-mitted against Armenians under Turkish misrule, and affirming the responsibility of the powers to secure Governmental reform, bet-ter administration, justice in the courts and the enjoyment of per-fect liberty of conscience.

The annual election resulted in the re-election of United States Senator Hoar of Massachusetts as President; Rev. W. D. Moorehouse of New York, General Secretary; William Howell Reed of Boston, Treasurer, and the following Vice-Presidents: United States Com-missioner of Labor Carroll D. Wright of Massachusetts, Thomas J. Morris of Baltimore, Norman B. Eaton of New York, Roger Walcott of Massachusetts, Horace Davis of San Francisco and Daniel L. Shorey of Chicago.

THE VERY BEST SERMON

Mr. Yatman Tells of a Modern Prodigal.

ASSOCIATION HALL CROWDED.

Some Pointed Remarks—Plain Anglo-Saxon Advice—Affecting Word Pictures—Advice to the Young Christian—Stand Firm in the Right.

The Y. M. C. A. hall began filling up last night about 7 o'clock and by a quarter of 8 there were no vacant chairs. Mr. Corbett opened the ser-vices by announcing the twenty-fourth hymn. After two others were sung he asked the audience to sing "Hold the Fort" but he would first have H. G. Rhodes, tell where the hymn got its origin. Mr. Rhodes gave the story of a battle near Chat-tanooga at a fort or stockade where there were $3,000,000 worth of am-munition stored. The place was at-tacked and it was thought the Union soldiers would yield to the superior numbers of the rebels. While the fight was in progress General Sher-man approached and signals made to him that help was needed. The reply came back "Hold the Fort." General Reynolds, after the war went to his home in Chicago and afterward related the circumstance to P. P. Bliss the famous writer of gospel hymns and he wrote the words to the song. At the conclusion of the hymn last night Rev. F. W. Damon asked God's blessing upon the evangelist in his work here.

Mr. Yatman then announced that the meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock would be the last for the general pub-lic to be held in the afternoons. Wed-nesday, Thursday and Friday would be devoted to women from every class of society. He would be glad to have the "swells" come in, but the meet-ings were not for them exclusively. The subject for these meetings will be "Woman Her Special Work." It will really be one address, but as it is pretty long and he wanted every one to hear all of it he divided it up into three parts.

It was noticed that Mr. Yatman was suffering from a severe cold and hoar-seness and the effects of his continued hard work, but before he had spoken many minutes the old-time vim re-turned and he was at once the "happy Mr. Yatman" who has delighted so many hundreds of people during his sojourn here. He called upon the people who professed religion on Sun-day to keep their promises and to be genuinely converted to Christ. He recommended them to join with any church where they could do the most good. He dwelt largely upon the fact that so many young men had pre-sented themselves and asked the assistance of parents and friends in their giving themselves fully and freely to God. Help them to get into church and keep the pledges they gave. He asked God's blessing on the meetings, not especially on those over which he presided but that it may come upon God's work of grace which he hope might sweep over the islands.

The speaker alluded hesitatingly to certain sentiments which seemed to exist here about Christ and Christi-anity. "It must be remembered that the church does not belong to individ-uals but to God and, when you go inside the church sometimes and you find things not just what you would like, remember it is not the church that makes it so but the individuals who call themselves Christians, but who have never given themselves to God. The congregations of the churches here are made up of various temperaments, and there were certain things apparent which would bear correcting. I may be doing wrong," said Mr. Yatman, "but I am a firm believer in sound Anglo-Saxon ad-vise, and I want to give you some of it now—it is, keep your mouths shut when things are not pleasing; bear with it for, as I said before, it is the individual, not the institution. I re-member when I was on the farm that I had to feed our old brindle cow, and occasionally a briar would get in with the hay, but 'old brindle' would eat all round it and leave the briar in the trough. I ought not to say it, per-haps," continued Mr. Yatman, "but I have met people here who really have not as much sense as our old brindle; they dive right in and take the briar and never touch the hay." "Now that I have told you this I feel better. It is like refreshing rains and we will now go to work. You all know how much easier it is to pull weeds after a rain."

The sermon last night was "The Prodigal Son." In it Mr. Yatman alluded to the joy Christ feels at the return of a prodigal. He drew a pic-ture of the father and his animosity toward his son who had gone away, and the final reconciliation. He re-lated a touching incident which hap-pened in Wichita, Kansas, where a mother came to him and asked his assistance in finding her prodigal son. Wherever Mr. Yatman goes he re-lates the case, so that if the boy should be present he may assist him to get to his home.

IT IS MURDER.

The Chinese Lad Dies from His Wounds—Coroner's Inquest.

Ab York, the lad who was stab-bled by Wong Lung Sunday afternoon died at the Queen's Hospital Monday morning at 2:30. Up to the time he was asked to identify the prisoner he seemed to be doing well, but the shock, probably, at seeing the man who had inflicted the wounds upon him was too much for him to recover from and he began sinking and did not after-ward rally.

Wong Lung, when arrested affected a species of absent-minded-ness as well as indifference to the matter, giving one the idea that he was either insane or was feign-ing insanity. This demeanor was kept up through the day and while the coroner was holding the in-quest. The evidence of five wit-nesses were taken and that of a sixth begun when the jury decided to adjourn to the house where the murder was committed. On re-opening the inquest testimony of witnesses was taken as to the find-ing of the knife and the escape and capture of the prisoner. The in-quest was then adjourned until this morning at 9 o'clock.

TO USE MOTOR WAGONS.

The Days of the Horse in British Columbia Over.

Will Carry Heavier Loads and Will be Cheaper to Operate—A Big Corpora-tion to be Formed.

VICTORIA (B. C.), Oct. 24.—A syndicate of prominent British Columbia business men, repre-sented by Barrister W. H. Arm-strong, have set America an ex-ample by adopting the horseless carriage for practical everyday use on a large scale. They have recently applied to the Provincial Legislature for a special Act in-corporating a company with a cap-ital of $500,000 and also empower-ing them to operate traction engines and carriages on the famous old Cariboo wagon road, which runs from Ashcroft, on the Canadian Pacific, to Barkerville, in the heart of the gold country. All tributary highways in the mining district are also included in the operation privileges sought though the main route of the horseless carriages will be be-tween Ashcroft and Barkerville, over 200 miles of mountainous road.

Referring to the scheme to-day, Armstrong said his principals are thoroughly satisfied the days of the horse are over, at all events in a country such as Cariboo, where all the animal eats must be imported and is therefore prohib-itively expensive. The horseless carriages they believe will make better time, will carry heavier loads and will be cheaper to op-erate. They will for the present be run with oil engines until storage batteries are considerably improved, and will handle both passengers and freight, carrying supplies into the mining camps and taking therefrom to the rail-way the output of ore. All the company's vehicles are, by the direction of the Government, to be provided with specially wide tires, so that their operation will be beneficial instead of injurious to the roads over which they pass.

Champion Wing Shot.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Iowa, won the handicap live bird match at the grounds of the Baltimore Shooting Association to-day and takes home with him the Dupont cup and the title of champion wing-shot of the world.

Gilbert and Charles McAlester of Philadelphia killed all of their twenty-five birds, but in the shoot-off at five birds McAlester missed one and had to be content with second money.

W. Wagner of Washington and E. B. Coe each killed twenty-four birds and shot off for the third and fourth moneys, the former win-ning with a score of four killed to three for Coe.

Consul Mills' Visit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—It is said at the State Department that there is nothing significant in the arrival in San Francisco of Ellis Mills, Consul General at Honolulu. Mr. Mills recently obtained leave of absence for sixty days and would have been in America soon or if the cholera outbreak in Ha-waii had not prevented his de-parture.

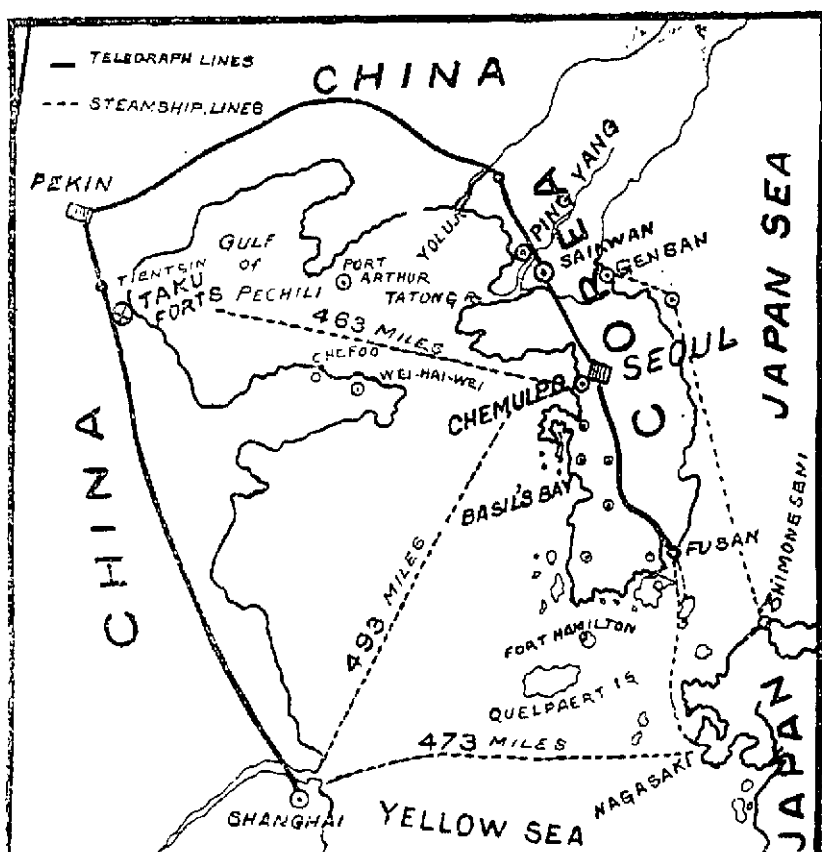

RUSSIA TROUBLESOME.

A Move Toward China That Means War.

THE SITUATION ALARMS ENGLAND.

Men-of-War Ordered to Fusan—Russia Has a Strong Grip—The Great Nations Will Object—Activity in the Navy Yards—Outcome of the War.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A dispatch from Shanghai yesterday afternoon, announcing the departure of a fleet of fifteen Russian warships from Vladivostok for Chemulpo and Fusan, Korea, and the Times dispatch from Hongkong announcing that Russia had obtained the right to anchor her fleet at Port Arthur and construct railroads on the Liao Tung peninsula, are looked upon generally as a sudden reopening in an unexpected quarter of the far Eastern question in its widest sense.

MAP SHOWING FUSAN, THE KOREAN PORT TO WHICH RUSSIAN CRUISERS HAVE BEEN ORDERED.

It is admitted here that the situation is so grave that, should the news prove true, it would make a war, in which several nations will take part, more than probable. It should be added that there is every reason to believe that the story from Hongkong is authentic. The afternoon papers of this city all publish long articles agreeing that British intervention in the far East is necessary.

The St. James Gazette says: "Even war with Russia would be less disastrous than to allow her without a blow to get such a grip upon China. She could throttle all the other powers and choke off their commerce. Unless Russia and China gave the necessary assurances, it is a case for an ultimatum and perhaps the most serious steps our diplomacy has had since the Crimean war."

"The impression is general in the official world, and it is re-echoed by the press, that neither America nor Germany can allow the Pacific Coast to become a Franco-Russian lake," as the Globe puts it, "and it is generally thought that the diplomats will be sufficiently strong to combine and resist Russian aggression."

The Pall Mall Gazette sums up the startling news from the far East with the statement that "Russia has annexed China," and in the course of a long article on the subject adds: "If this treaty is to stand, roll up the map of Asia."

In conclusion, the Pall Mall Gazette urges the reoccupation of Port Hamilton by the British and the immediate strengthening of the British fleet in Chinese waters, "lest Japan lose her fleet at the first blow."

Since this important news was circulated, the greatest activity has been displayed in the government offices here, particularly at the Foreign Office and at the Admiralty, and the coming and going of messengers was continuous throughout the morning and business hours of the afternoon.

The correspondent of the Times at Hongkong, who sent the sensational news, is described by his newspaper as being "in close relations with men who are able to penetrate beneath the surface of things," and it is therefore concluded that the news he has just sent cannot be disregarded.

The Foreign Office declares today that it has no confirmation of the report. The Standard (Conservative) editorially considers that the Times' Hongkong dispatch reporting important concessions to Russia by China, is a balloon d'essai on Russia's part. Even if the mandarins sanctioned such a treaty, the Standard continues, it would only be with the comforting assurance that they would face the opposition of Japan and the powers. The covenant would be mere waste paper.

An editorial in the Chronicle says: We think that thus menaced by Russia, Japan will refuse to evacuate Port Arthur. It is not inconceivable that if Russia attempts such a step, England and Japan will form an offensive and defensive alliance. If Lord Salisbury will only be able to make up his mind what to do and how to do it, he has a chance to gain high credit for himself.

THE FEELING IN WASHINGTON.

Bolton Strong in the Alleged Secret Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—While nothing official can be learned in Washington with reference to the alleged secret treaty between Russia and China, it is not doubted that some understanding exists between the two countries which will result to their mutual advantage.

From the beginning of the war between China and Japan, Russia, it was repeatedly said, was endeavoring to effect some arrangement with China or Japan which would give her a proper terminus for her great railway. Vladivostok, which is now the eastern terminus of the road, is in so northerly a latitude that the harbor is filled with ice for at least half of the year. Russia is compelled, therefore, to find another terminus, which will be open to navigation uninterruptedly.

With this purpose in view she tried, a year ago, to secure Japan's assent to an extension of her Siberian road through Northern Korea to Port Lazareff, on the Japanese sea. This project failing, it now appears that Russia, whose friendship for China has been demonstrative, particularly since the close of the Japanese war, has secured railway and other privileges through Chinese territory which will give to her the open-water terminus she desires at Port Arthur.

Additional color is given to the reported concession by China for the extension of Russia's transcontinental railway through Manchuria by the experience of the representative of the Detroit Drydock Company, who has possessions in the Gulanas. This boundary line has never been clearly defined by any treaty, although documents obtainable seem to indicate that both Spain and the Netherlands regarded the Essequibo river as such boundary.

The difference of opinion in the Cabinet seems to rest upon the inability of the Administration to determine whether or not England has any just right to insist upon the Schomburgk line as the western extremity of the South American colony. There is, however, no division upon the question touching the right of Venezuela to insist upon the absolute control of all the country in dispute west of the original Schomburgk line. England's latest contention is that the territory extending nearly 100 miles west of that line is embraced within the limits of her colony of Guiana. It is not likely that any further important move will be made by the United States until the United States Ministers in Caracas, Madrid and The Hague can be heard from in answer to a request to be made upon them for all the documentary evidence possible which will throw light upon the disputed points.

IT'S CORBETT AND FITZ.

The Chin-Choppers Still Working.

Corbett Haggles and Fitz Quibbles. Julian Leaves Town Suddenly—Fitzsimmons Says Jim Is a Coward.

HOT SPRINGS, Oct. 24.—Corbett today made the following announcement: "I gave to every reputable newspaper representative last night my final proposition in order to make a fight possible, naming ten reputable, unbiased men for referees and giving Julian until noon today to agree to one of them or suggest others. Julian left here this morning unceremoniously without arranging anything. I further said I would wait until noon tomorrow (Friday) for him to deposit $10,000 with any reputable man in order to make his boasts good, I claiming that nothing further could be done without his side stake or a referee. I will wait until noon tomorrow and, Fitzsimmons not accepting my fair proposition, I shall leave for New York at 3 p. m. and pay no further attention to Fitzsimmons."

"I claim the championship belt by forfeit. Fitzsimmons has failed to live up to a single agreement, and the Florida Athletic Club has declared the match off. I want this claim acknowledged, and announce publicly today that I will offer the belt to be fought for by Maher and O'Donnell."

JAMES J. CORBETT.

To this announcement the club replied as follows: "According to the conditions governing the belt, its disposition goes with the decision of a referee. In the absence of a referee it depends upon the final disposition of the stake money. If, after October 31st Stakeholder Dwyer acknowledges your claim to Fitzsimmons' stake money, the belt will be awarded to you. The declaration by the club that the match is off is not a factor to the agreement between you and Fitzsimmons. If there is no fight on October 31st, the agreement articles are nullified. If you announce your retirement as champion we will offer the belt for competition by Maher and O'Donnell or any other challengers."

Brady announces today that Corbett and his party will depart for New York tomorrow at 8 o'clock, and that Corbett will announce to the world his retirement from pugilism forever. This decision was arrived at today, inasmuch as Julian left the city this morning without coming to any agreement as to who shall referee the contest and gave no assurance that his $10,000 side stakes would be posted in the hands of a responsible party by noon tomorrow.

"Julian and Fitzsimmons would be in this city October 31st, ready and willing to fight Corbett, and the $10,000 would be posted in due time, so optimistic as to Corbett's departure vary Julian says that upon his arrival here with Fitzsimmons that if Corbett is not in the city they will follow him up. If he is in San Francisco they will go there, and wherever they find him they will either make him fight or crawl out of it in a more definite way."

CORPUS CHRISTI (Tex.), Oct. 24.—Said Fitzsimmons today: "Corbett has acted a coward and a sneak in the whole business, and if I ever meet him I'll tell him so to his face. I intend to complete my four weeks' training at this place, fight or no fight."

AN OCEAN FREIGHT WAR.

Low Rates From China to New York Prevail.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Consul Charles Seymour writes the Department of State from Canton, China, that two large British steamers have left that country with a general line of Chinese and Japanese productions for New York. The vessels go by the Suez canal route, and took their cargoes at the extremely low rate of $6 per ton of forty cubic feet.

At this rate the products of Eastern Asia can be delivered in New York at less cost for transportation than is required for conveying the freight across any one of the large States, and for about one-fourth of the price paid from New York or any American Atlantic port to Asia by the overland railroad to American ports on the Pacific, and then by the several steamship lines to Japan and China.

"Thus," says Mr. Seymour, "not only are American and other sailing vessels to suffer from this new steamship rate, but this new ocean freight war must seriously affect all of the great steamship interests between China and American ports on the Pacific and American transcontinental trade."

CONSUL - GENERAL MILLS.

Interviewed in San Francisco by the Chronicle.

Praise for the Republic of Hawaii in Dealing With Cholera. Taking a Vacation.

Ellis Mills, the American Consul-General at Honolulu, who has signed all the consular letters during the cholera excitement, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Mariposa, says the San Francisco Chronicle of October 25th. Copies of a Honolulu paper containing a vigorous attack upon him came on the same vessel. The newspaper articles demanded that the Government should demand his recall upon the ground that he drank to excess and was generally unfitted for the position.

Mr. Mills won general commendation by his tireless devotion to duty during the epidemic. He took the greatest pains to personally see that every passenger taken from Honolulu for an American port during the whole time was properly fumigated. The fumigating was done in his presence. He insisted upon this before signing any of the statements that he did sign.

When Mr. Mills was seen on the steamer yesterday he said: "I have made four attempts to get away from the islands and to my home in Staunton, Va., on a leave of absence, but each time something has prevented me from getting away. The cholera kept me busy day and night for weeks, and after that I was sick and under constant medical attendance. I had the malaria fever and a very severe attack."

"I cannot too highly praise the Government of Hawaii for the manner in which it handled the cholera epidemic. No expense was spared. Houses were torn down and plantations of rice drained. The Government will have to pay for all this. It so happened that the new artesian wells gave forth a flow of pure water just as the cholera broke out, which was a most fortunate thing for the community. The stopping of the inter-island steamers was another most wise precaution. I certainly do not know whether the cholera was left there by a steamer, but I do know that the disease certainly killed in the briefest possible time and made a well man look like a half-skeleton in a few hours."

Mr. Mills expects to return to the islands in about four months.

The College Girl and Her Chances of Marriage.

A famous English lord once visited an American college. He was disposed to be enthusiastic over the American college girl. She actually wrote Greek with the accents, and studied chemistry in the laboratory! But—"How will it affect her chances in the marriage market?" was his supreme question about her.

Milord might have been interested in an article in the October Century wherein Millicent Washburn Shinn brings together some statistics that bear on his question.

Her figures say that out of 100 chances the college graduate has 28 of changing the Miss to Mrs. But of every 100 women who have no Alma Mater, 80 have husbands. The goddess of marriage seems to discriminate against the college girl! But the figures are misleading for several reasons. Many an undergraduate woman marries and alas never becomes a graduate statistic!

Again, the college woman marries late. But out of the 1805 women on '95's enrollment, many are recent graduates some of whom will marry later. So the author sets the ultimate probability at 55 per cent. as against 90 for other women. Proportionately a few more "co-eds" marry. And the alumna who goes West is more likely to marry than her sisters who stay in the East. And the alumna who does not teach, may marry, but no woman except a nun is less likely to marry than the resident teacher in a girls' school. It may be remarked further that in the East where many colleges are, and where the marriage rate is lowest the private school is legion.

Then the self-supporting college woman is doubtless more exacting in her standard of marriage. Possibly for this reason unhappy marriages are virtually unknown among college women, who are said to make a great success as mothers.

It may be that intellectual women are disagreeable; it may be that they are naturally less attractive, and the philosophy of events has sent them to college; it may be that men's taste is at fault. It is a fact, however, that many men dislike intellectual women. They prefer a wife with illusions, like the frank college man who said: "When I met a dear girl that I knew everything, why it just keeled me right over; it was a feeling I had no idea of." And a co-ed answered: "We want just as much to look up to our husbands as you want to be looked up to. Only, of course, the more we know the harder it is to find some body to meet the want."

Whether this celibacy of college women is more than a transition phase or not, it is fortunate in being evinced in a class that can be more contented and more useful in single life than others might be.

Such is the spirit of the American girl that, if she has begun to fit for college, she will probably persevere, and go there as soon as she can, in spite of the prospect of thereby lessening her chances of marriage. Perhaps she thinks that with an education her chances for happiness are many, even if her prospects of matrimony are few.

Home Dressmaking.

There is always more or less said and written upon the subject of home dressmaking says a contemporary. In the opinion of some the less said the better, but the women who have but little money and wish to dress well, will appreciate any suggestions that will enable them to construct a pretty gown without too great expense. If you have the bodice of a worn out gown that fitted you well, rip it up carefully and press it and you have a good pattern to cut your muslins and challies by. You can get a good skirt pattern the same way. Do your work slowly and carefully, and the results will compare favorably with the gowns made by your dress-makers.

This suggestion is of course for the women who have time. It is not for the business or professional woman whose mind and hands are occupied throughout the day, and to whom dressmaking would mean giving up her few hours of rest to the practice of an economy that for her would be a waste of strength and energy needed more for more important duties.

Home dressmaking is for the women who can stay at home to do it, whose hours are only partly filled by household duties. To them it is an economy, to the business woman it is an extravagance. I have often questioned whether the average man would accomplish anything in life if he made all his own coats and trousers, knitted his stockings and sewed his neckties himself.

Literary Small Talk From Over the Sea.

Mr. Anthony Hope's new serial is entitled "Phrozo." The scene is laid in a Greek island which has been bought by a young English lord. The inhabitants conspire to slay the new proprietor. Phrozo is a Greek beauty with whom he falls in love. The rest is not obvious—Mr. Anthony Hope is too clever for that; and those who have read the story talk of it in the most enthusiastic terms as the best serial story they have ever seen.

Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson's Vailima letters, which will be published soon, throw much light on his literary methods. They prove Stevenson to have been one of the most hard-working and conscientious of literary men. Indeed, reading some passages, one would almost call him a drudge. He had great misgivings about his books as he wrote them, and these did not disappear on their completion. But when the proofs came back to him, his spirits generally revived, and by the time they were all in his hands, he was ready to pronounce the book quite a good one. It turns out that the "Ebb Tide" was practically his own, Mr. Lloyd Osbourne having written little of it. On the other hand the "Wrong Box" belongs almost entirely to Mr. Osbourne. The letters contain very little allusion to contemporary writers. There are references to Rudyard Kipling.

Miss Wilkins is writing a new story, which is not to appear in serial form. It has for its central figure a New England heroine in whose veins there are traces of French and Indian blood, both of which have more or less influence in shaping her career.

The title of Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel is "Sir George Trevelyan."

The great American magazines are depending for their fiction mainly on English writers. Whether this a proof of the temporary decline of literature in America, or whether it is a sign of Anglomania, the fact is significant. The Century is commencing a story by Mrs. Humphry Ward. Scribner's has secured Mr. Barrie's new novel, which begins in January. Harper's will follow with Mr. Du Maurier's successor to "Trilby." Munsey's Magazine has secured the serial rights in America of Mr. Hall Caine's new novel, which, however, will not commence for some time. McClure's Magazine, which has reached the large circulation of 140,000, will probably publish Mr. Stevenson's "St. Ives."

Scripture Cake.

Some industrious Bible reader who withholds his name, has produced the following rule for a cake which he calls Scripture Cake. Perhaps some of our readers may care to try the rule and report on their success: Four and a half cups of I Kings IV: 22; one cup of Judges V: 25 (last clause); two cups of Jeremiah VI: 20 (sugar);

two cups of I Samuel XXX: 12 (raisins); two cups of Nahum III: 12; one tablespoonful of Numbers XVII: 8; one large tablespoonful of I Samuel XIV: 25; season to taste of II Chronicles IX: 9; six of Jeremiah XVII: 11; a pinch of Leviticus II: 13; one cup of Genesis XXIV: 20; two teaspoonfuls of Amos IV: 5 (baking powder). Follow Solomon's prescription for making a good boy. Proverbs XXIII: 14, and you will have a good cake.

The Right Sort of Boy.

Here's to the boy who's not afraid To do his share of work Who never is by toil dismayed, And never tries to shirk

The boy whose heart is brave to meet All lions in the way Who's not discouraged by defeat, But tries another day

The boy who always means to do The very best he can, Who always keeps the right in view, And aims to be a man

Such boys as these will grow to be The men whose hands will guide The future of our land, and we Shall speak their names with pride

HOW TO PREVENT CROUP.

SOME READING THAT WILL PROVE INTERESTING TO YOUNG MOTHERS HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THE DISEASE.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by all dealers. TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1895.

COMMENTING ON Hawaiian advices that tell of a strong movement on foot here to release all the political prisoners on Thanksgiving Day, the San Francisco Chronicle says: "Unless we are much mistaken in Dole's character, all agitation over this question will result in nothing."

Silk culture promises to be an industry of more or less importance in Oregon. A Japanese has been experimenting in that State for some years, and his exhibits for this season are commented on very favorably by experts. There are many people in this country who might profit by the progressive spirit displayed in the Western States.

CHIEF CROWLEY, in his report to the United States Secretary of the Treasury on opium smuggling in San Francisco, says the reduction of the import duty from $12 to $6 has caused a marked decrease in the amount of opium smuggled into that city; also, a large increase in the revenue derived from that drug. The result is what might be expected. The tariff is reduced below the prohibitory figure, and, naturally enough, the importers take advantage of legitimate methods of bringing the drug into the country rather than run the risk of possible confiscation if smuggled goods are captured. The conclusion drawn favoring the reduction of the tariff are much on the same plane as the arguments against the prohibition of the liquor traffic—"Give us free rum and the people will get better stuff." It is a parley with an evil in which the tendency is for the evil to win.

THE current number of the Handicraft says: "Gang labor is, in its last analysis, slave labor. A luna is an economic waste; though white labor is done by slaves (under contract or otherwise), lunaship is necessary. Education, planning an escape from slavish conditions, aspires to make the future laborer independent of superintendence. In working on this principle with boys it is to be expected that at first there will be a dropping off in the aggregate amount of labor done. If, however, there is enough insistence upon the thorough completion of the work given to the boy, he will soon learn that to get satisfactory results he must work steadily. It is results we are all after, and results tell the story even as to ways and means—though perhaps not in terms of number of strokes or minutes. Getting good results from boys' labor—because they themselves are interested in seeking results—is all a question of wise supervision."

DR. ARTHUR J. BROWN, one of the secretaries of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, recently made the following extraordinary statement concerning missionary work in Japan: "It is now a serious question whether it is worth while to send more missionaries to Japan. Ten years ago Japan stretched out welcoming arms to the West. There was the mighty chance to Christianize all Japan had men and money been poured in. It was lost, and today the question is trembling in the balance whether or not we shall withdraw our missionaries from that country, where no progress is being made seemingly. If Dr. Brown continues in his present frame of mind, we may expect to hear that he has declared for turning the whole world over to sin and the devil. If all the church workers should sit quietly by and wait over the mistakes of the past, there would be mighty little progress in the world. Mistakes have occurred, mistakes will occur, and it is by profiting by the mistakes that success in the future is assured."

ANOTHER ATTACK ON MONOPOLY.
The latest advance step in the war against trusts in the United States has been taken by the Attorney General of New York, who has cited the American Tobacco Company, a New Jersey corporation doing business in New York under the law of comity, to appear before a judge of the Supreme Court and show cause why the certificate permitting it to do business in New York should not be revoked. The charge against the American Tobacco Company is that its methods of business are contrary to the laws of the State; "by reason of consolidation, combination and conspiracy" the company "has been able to control the market price of the various kinds of paper cigarettes manufactured and offered for sale." The question for the court to decide is whether a company incorporated in one State can do business in another State whose laws prohibit the formation of such companies at home. Should the tobacco trust be ruled out of New York, the sugar trust and other combinations will suffer the same fate.

The feeling against the trusts in the United States has been steadily increasing, those who have opposed them as a matter of principle having been joined by a large number of people who have been caught financially in the corners of the combinations. As is remarked by the Louisville Journal, "It is a shallow trick to incorporate a monopoly in one State when it is intended that it shall do business in another. From whatever source the reform may have proceeded it will be welcome. A decision against the trust in New York need not drive it out of existence as long as other States may have more lenient laws or more complaisant officials, but the moral effect would be very great. It would almost certainly stop the speculation in its shares, and this evil, owing to the active participation in it of its chief officers, has come to be almost as objectionable as its business methods."

New York will at least do well in chasing the trusts from its borders as, once the work is well under way, it will only be a matter of time when monopolies, large and small, will be pursued from State to State, and finally suffer the ignominious death of the lottery. The people have been calling on their political representatives to put down the monopolies and have been met with unfulfilled promises. Should final success meet one effort the politicians will be forced to take up a more active campaign than has characterized their efforts in the past.

RUSSIA'S LATEST MOVE.
From a British standpoint relations with the nations of the Western hemisphere have dropped into comparative insignificance before the suppositions that have arisen on account of the mysterious movements of the Russian fleet in Eastern waters. While the tone of the English newspapers is decidedly warlike, and the situation among the powers of Europe has a more threatening and serious appearance than has been in evidence for some time past, it is possible that the movements of the Russian fleet will be attended with no more serious complications than characterized the recent mysterious maneuvering of the British fleet, when the press of Japan looked for something more aggressive than the ultimatum to China. Russia's aspirations to acquire a winter harbor is, however, a constant menace to peace and quiet in the Orient and Europe, and it is barely possible that this latest move is the preliminary step of an active campaign to gain possession of the coveted port.

The Chronicle suggests that an explanation of the Russian mystery will be found in the treaty that has just been negotiated, according to report, between Russia and China. It is said that the treaty is far-reaching in its terms, not only from a commercial but from a military and naval standpoint.

point. Among the distinct advantages granted to Russia is the right of anchorage for her naval fleet at Port Arthur. If the story of the treaty is true, therefore, it may be that the fleet that has just sailed from Vladivostok may have Port Arthur as its destination. Port Arthur is still in the hands of Japan. Should Russia claim the harbor as a naval station under a concession from China, granted while the place is still held by victorious Japan, the latter might well refuse to complete the retrocession, which was forced upon Japan, it will be remembered, by Russia and her allies, France and Germany. The seriousness of the situation will be understood when it is asserted that Great Britain would certainly encourage and sustain Japan in this course. While Russia, France and Germany united under the leadership of Russia, to force Japan to modify the treaty of peace with China and yield the peninsula, which Port Arthur commands, and while the three nations acted together in guaranteeing the Chinese loan to meet the Japanese indemnity, it is not at all certain that Germany would continue to act with Russia and France in the event of a rupture between Russia on the one hand and Japan and England on the other. It is more likely that Germany would join England, though France and Russia appear to have formed a permanent alliance."

APPROPOS OF President Cleveland's recent order requiring applicants for consulships and commercial agents to prove their efficiency by examination, the Nation notes the steps that have been taken during the last thirty years to improve the foreign service of the United States. The first move was in 1864 when Congress provided for thirteen consular clerks who were to make consular duties a special study. In 1866 the State Department issued an order requiring applicants for consulships to present themselves for examination at the Department. There is record of one examination under this ruling. In 1872 consulates were placed under the civil service act of 1871 and made examinable by a commission from the State Department. This system lasted two years but perished owing to the refusal of Congress to provide an appropriation to carry out the law. President Cleveland's recent order is issued under this act and its results are awaited with considerable interest. Remarking on the glaring defects of the American consular system the Nation says of the average consul, "It is to be observed that when Americans arrive on the ground, visit him in his office, contrast him with the commercial agents of other countries, and find where he stands socially in foreign capitals, the absurdity of our consular system does come home to him." The critic shoots wide of the mark when he makes a slap at the consular clerks appointed under the act of 1864, as these men as a rule have been in marked contrast to those appointed as a reward for past political services. But he undoubtedly voices the sentiment of the majority of the Americans who visit foreign countries when he says, "Nothing probably has done more to damage our national business character than our foreign consuls."

The quinine bill of the Spanish government for its troops in Cuba has already reached $50,000, and there are calls for more. This is expensive re-enforcement, especially as quinine can't put the fighting force into any company of soldiers, compared with the tonic of patriotism that inspires the hearts of the Cubans. Spain will find that no amount of dosing will cure the malady it has engendered by years of mis-rule and oppression.

OBTAINING LABOR STATISTICS.
During the annual convention of labor commissioners and statisticians held in Minneapolis, many valuable points were brought out that might be perused to advantage by the people of this country who are interested in labor problems which in order to be dealt with properly, are sadly in need of carefully compiled and exhaustive statistics.

One of the most useful papers read was an explanation of the methods in vogue in the State of Massachusetts for obtaining an industrial census. Massachusetts has the best equipped labor bureau of any State in the Union and has set a good mark for others to follow. The labor census is taken annually, and each year blanks are sent out to manufacturers to fill out, those failing to respond being looked after by special agents of the bureau. In the present census that is to be taken this year in conjunction with the State population census complete information is being gathered both as to farmers and manufacturers. During the month of May the 1000 enumerators, all picked men chosen by a civil service reform method, leave blanks with the farmers and manufacturers requesting them to fill them out and have them ready when called for in November. All the facts thus gathered are placed on red, yellow and blue cards, according as they relate to the man, woman or the family, thus giving the bureau a card catalogue of the census.

Massachusetts' enumerators are paid $3 for a day of nine hours and pro rata for overtime. They are chosen by a competitive method, which tests their powers of filling out blanks with facts from hypothetical statements and also their power of applying the hypothetical facts enumerated. Out of the successful enumerators 150 are chosen to complete the industrial census in November. The collection of agricultural statistics costs about fifty cents a form and the whole census about $200,000.

United States Commissioner Wright remarked the necessity of employing as census-takers men of intelligence, who would give the work an undivided attention. The statistician must analyze facts and figures in order to get at truths. There are certain psychological elements in all industrial problems which have a great influence in determining results, and must not be neglected.

THE call from the Executive to set apart the 28th of November as a day of thanksgiving and prayer comes home to the people of Hawaii with more than ordinary force this year. It has been a year of sharp trial in the political and domestic affairs of the nation, so sharp in fact that the most thoughtless individual is brought to a recognition of the guiding hand of Providence.

Lepers Escape.
About a fortnight ago two native lepers escaped from the settlement in Molokai and, obtaining a canoe, set out, as their ancestors did in olden times, to cross the channel and make for Oahu. A search was made for them and one man was found. He was taken immediately to the Kalih station and will be sent back. He says he has no knowledge of the whereabouts of his companion, no trace of whom has yet been struck. There will be an examination this week of the nineteen lepers now at the Kalih station preparatory to removal to Molokai.

A PECULIAR CASE.

Physicians Puzzled by the Experience of Mrs. Bowen.

The Episcopal Hospital Said She Had Consumption.

(From the Record, Philadelphia, Pa.)

From no place in the world come stranger stories than from a city hospital. Some romantic, some horrible, many wonderful—aye, even miraculous. Last July the Episcopal hospital admitted a woman whose pale and emaciated face and ravaged body proclaimed her the victim of that dread disease consumption. She gave her name as Mrs. Sallie G. Bowen, wife of Wm. G. Bowen, residence, 1549 Melgham St. The case was diagnosed and she was told, bluntly, that she was in an advanced stage of consumption. The examining physician even showed her the sunken place in her breast where the cavity in her lung was supposed to exist. She went home to her family a broken, disheartened woman with death staring her in the face.

That was the beginning of the story, the end was told by Mrs. Bowen, who no longer expects to die, to a reporter who visited her home. "I have been an ailing woman for many years," she began, "my trouble being in the throat and chest, accompanied by a weakness that caused numerous fainting spells. In July, 1893, I fell from a hammock striking my hip and injuring my side. From this time on my trouble rapidly developed until the last of October, when it became so serious that I was nearly crazy with pain. The first symptom of consumption came in the form of terrible sweats, both night and day. From April until September I was constantly cold and kept wrapped up in blankets through the hottest weather. A terrible cough took possession of me, my breath was sore to the slightest touch, and my limbs were like cold clay. The hardest rubbing with ether, camomile towel would create the slightest flush, and the least exertion would so exhaust me that I could barely gasp for water.

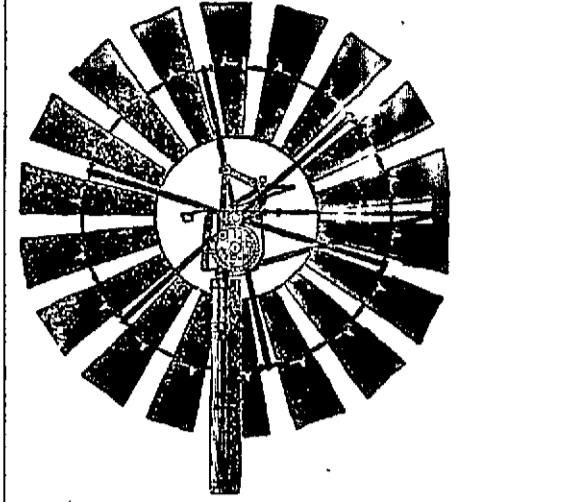

"It was in July," as you know, that I went to the hospital, the last haven of hope, instead of which I received, as I then believed, the death sentence. I was placed under the hospital treatment, their kindness and liberality I will never forget, going to the country at their suggestion, but despite all they could do for me death seemed to grow nearer. "It was when the clouds were the darkest that the light of sunshine came. Mr. Sheldermine, a friend, who lives around at 1844 Clementine St., said to me, Mrs. Bowen did you ever try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People? I had never heard of the medicine but in my condition could not turn a deaf ear to anything that offered relief. I was after considerable thought and investigation that I concluded to discontinue all the medicine I was taking, including cod liver oil, and depend entirely upon Pink Pills. That required courage, you say, not so much when I believed that I had to die soon anyway. I began to take the pills, at first with but little encouragement. The first sign of improvement being a warmth and a tingling sensation in my limbs. Finally the cough disappeared, my chest lost its soreness and I began to gain flesh until I was fifteen pounds heavier. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I cannot praise them too highly."

An impoverished condition of the blood, or a disordered condition of the nerves, is the fruitful source of most ills that afflict mankind, and to any thus afflicted Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer a speedy and certain cure. No other remedy has ever met with such great and continued success, which is one of the strongest proofs that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills accomplish all that is claimed for them. They are an unfailing cure for leucoderma, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, neuritis, rheumatism, nervous headache, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, diseases depending upon vitiated blood such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as irregular menstruation, in which they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of any nature.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Dr. Williams, Canada and 46 Halborn Viaduct, London, Eng. They are put up in round glass bottles, the wrapper covering which bears the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." As there are imitations of this wonderful remedy, see that the above trademark is on every package on purchase, and promptly refuse all imitations and substitutions.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by The Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents, and all dealers in medicine.

-- AND --
Steel Tower.

As pumping is one of the most common uses to which wind motors are put, the method of communicating motion to the pump is very important and has received our closest attention, and the defect created in most wind mills of racking themselves to pieces in a severe wind has been obviated in the Aermotor by means of back gearing, so that the wheel makes about three turns to one stroke of the pump or enough so that the wheel may run at its natural speed, unrestrained in any moderate wind, without doing violence to the pump or its connections. This enables us to give the pump a long stroke instead of the quick, jerky, short strokes of ordinary wind-mills. This means that the valves are not worked so harshly in opening and closing and that the wear and tear is greatly diminished, while the piston rod speed is increased, and consequently the pumping capacity is increased. The back gearing, together with the extra holes for crank pins in the crank wheel also makes it possible to use with the Aermotor any ordinary size of pump cylinder. If a wind motor is not sensitive to the direction of the wind much of its efficiency is lost.

The ease with which a wind mill faces up to the wind depends on weight of the mill—the kind and condition of the bearings on which it pivots and the comparative leverage of wheel and tail. In the matter of leverage, the advantage enjoyed by the Aermotor over common wind mills will be made apparent by the fact that the center of the wheel is only twelve inches from the mast or center on which it turns while that of the best known wheel is thirty inches, requiring as is easily seen two and one-half times as long or large a tail to balance the same sized wheel. The Aermotor presents one-half the surface to the wind; it is apparent that this other wheel must have five times the tail surface to make it face the wind equally well thereby greatly increasing the liability to wreck in a storm. The mere fact that we have placed 150 more Aermotors on the islands is sufficient guarantee of their superiority and desirability by those who want a motor that looks after itself.

PADEREWSKI IN AMERICA.

He Will Take in San Francisco on This Trip.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Paderewski, the pianist, who has just arrived here, in an interview said: "I am glad to be with my American friends again. I feel quite at home already. I shall be in this country probably until March or April and shall visit parts of it that I have never been in before. On my former trip I went as far west as Denver, but now I shall go to the Pacific Coast. The distances are long, but traveling in this country is much more comfortable than in Europe. The Europeans cannot realize the difference. Curiously enough, the train that approaches nearest to the American standard is the one from Paris to Constantinople. It has all the conveniences except the barber shop and bath. At one time I thought of playing in Spain this year. It is the one European country that I do not know, but I am told that travel is very hard there and the accommodations poor, so I decided to return to America."

This morning at 11 o'clock the Minister will receive the new Consul-General officially, and it is believed President Dole will receive him a little later.

The last representative to pay compliments during the afternoon was Senor Canavarró, Charge d'Affairs for Portugal.

CHIEF CROWLEY ON OPIUM.

Reduction of Tariff Has Increased Revenue From the Drug.

Chief of Special Agents Crowley of San Francisco, in his report submitted to the United States Secretary of the Treasury, says that the provisions of the tariff act of 1894, reducing the duty on opium from $12 to $6 a pound, has caused a marked decrease in the amount smuggled into this country, and a corresponding increase in the amount brought through the Custom House upon which duty is paid.

To substantiate this claim he points out that in 1893 the total duty collected on opium at San Francisco was $662,664; in 1894 the amount collected was $589,272, while in 1895, with a 50 per cent. reduction of the duty, the collections footed up $913,404. He believes that if the duty was reduced to $4 a pound the demand for the inferior British Columbia product would be lessened to such an extent that its manufacture for illegal import into the United States would be practically discontinued.

The smuggling of the Chinese drug would then be centralized at the ports on the Pacific seaboard, where it would be met more successfully by customs officers, while the customs revenue would be increased very largely by the additional duties paid upon the increased amount brought through the Custom Houses. Mr. Crowley believes that it has been clearly demonstrated that the use of opium cannot be entirely eradicated by prohibitive duties.

At Old Kawaiahao.

The last sermon in the shed at Kawaiahao Church was preached by Rev. Henry H. Parker Sunday morning before a very large congregation. Mr. Parker said that fifty-seven Sundays had been spent in the shed, and throughout this time members of his congregation had been most faithful in the matter of attendance. They had been barred from worshipping there—once by the revolution and at another time by the cholera. As he looked back over the work in the little shed he was overcome by a feeling that made the place seem as sacred ground to him. Now the old church made new was about to be opened and a new era of faithful work begun.

Clearing Thomas Square.

It is the intention of the Government to clear away a portion of the shrubbery on the sides of Thomas Square, facing King and Beretania streets. This step is taken on account of the demand of people who go there in carriages to hear the band play, and who find it impossible to get a view of the musicians in the stand. Emma Square has already been stripped of a quantity of shrubbery, and the effect has been quite satisfactory.

HE BLAMED THE OFFICERS.

Sailor Discharged From the Bennington—ton Talks. 257

Claims That Cholera was Brought to the Ship by Those Allowed on Shore.

When it was reported that the officers on the American warships were allowed to go ashore while the vessels were in quarantine at Japanese ports there was a loud cry that no harm could be done in this way as the officers were careful where they went on shore and not like common seamen who wandered into all sorts of places.

In sharp contrast to this is a statement made by a seaman from the Bennington, who arrived here on the Mariposa. This man declares that if the cholera was brought from shore at Honolulu to the Bennington, it was certainly the officers who brought it on the ship, as the men had not been in Honolulu for two weeks.

The man from the Bennington who makes this statement is William J. Breen. He is on the way to New York where he will be discharged. He left the Bennington after her return from the cruise she took out of Honolulu as soon as it was discovered that she had cholera on board.

"The man that was sick on the Bennington was William H. Goebel," said Breen. Goebel shipped in Washington, D.C. He was taken sick and died within nine hours right on the ship. It was certainly cholera. We were all pretty well frightened, but the fright wore off soon when it was found that no one else on board had caught the disease.

"All the men on the Bennington are disgusted at the statement of the officers that poor Goebel got the cholera on shore. It is a misrepresentation of the facts made to save the officers from reprimand for they certainly brought the cholera aboard themselves if it came from the town. The officers were allowed perfect freedom to go ashore and the men were not. Goebel had not been ashore in weeks when he was taken sick."—S. F. Chronicle, Oct. 25.

Chinese-English Debaters.

The Chinese-English Debating Society had a very interesting and instructive meeting last Friday night at their rooms on King street. The subject, "Are American Missionaries Beneficial in China?" came up for discussion with Li Chong as judge of the merits of the debate. The affirmative claimed that the missionaries were establishing schools and churches and spending their money in China. Hospitals were also being erected and the sick Chinese being cared for more and more every year. The daughters of the missionaries themselves were nurses in the hospital. If it were not for the influence of the missionaries, China would still be asleep as regards the needs of her own people. The negative put forth the argument that the missionaries were in the field for money. This was the principal stand taken by the opposition, but it did not seem to please the greater part of the members. Upon a vote as to the merits of the case being taken it was found that the house stood fourteen to eight in favor of the missionaries. The judge decided that the missionaries are beneficial in China. The debate for next Friday night will be on the subject, "Can the people of China be stopped from using opium?"

Death of O. Fetter.

Otto Fetter, aged 64, and a native of Goerlitz, Germany, died at 4 a.m. Sunday morning of liver complaint. He had been ailing for a couple of months but was only confined to his bed a fortnight. Mr. Fetter came to this country thirteen years ago and went to work at Koloa plantation as a carpenter. From there he went to Waimanalo. For two years previous to his death he was night watchman on the steam dredger. Mr. Fetter leaves four sons and two daughters, the eldest of the latter being the wife of Captain Paul Smith of the dredger.

Salisbury May Retire.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Chronicle, in its issue tomorrow, recalled the old rumor that Lord Salisbury will withdraw from the Premiership in favor of his nephew, the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, now First Lord of the Treasury, and mention a report that the Prime Minister intended to relinquish the foreign portfolio in favor of Lord Dufferin, the British Ambassador to France. The Chronicle admits that there may not be much, if any, truth in the reports.

PROCLAMATION.

The past year has brought varied experiences to the Republic. With abundant crops and fair business prosperity, both foreign and domestic, have come the critical incidents of domestic disturbance and dangerous pestilence; from both of which the country has been mercifully delivered with small loss of life through the blessing of Providence on the efforts of the government and its citizens.

In view of these things and other countless benefits which have been vouchsafed to us, I SANFORD B. DOLE, President of the Republic of Hawaii, recommend that THURSDAY, the 28th DAY OF THIS PRESENT MONTH, NOVEMBER, be set apart as a day of National Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings of the past year and the promise of the future, and of prayer for the continuance of His favor.

DROWNED AT THE BEACH.

Harry Welch, Car Driver, Loses His Life.

NOT A CASE OF SUICIDE.

Seen in With Heart Trouble—Found Floating at Long Branch—Tramway Employees Bury the Body—Evidence of Persons Who Knew Welch.

Harry Welch, an Englishman, aged 45 years, and up to the time of his death a driver on the Beretania line of the Hawaiian Tramways Company, came to his death by accidental drowning off the pier at Long Branch, Waikiki, between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m. yesterday.

A Coroner's inquest, presided over by Deputy Marshal Hitchcock, was held in Long Branch at 1 p. m. The following-named persons constituted the jury: A. M. Beattie, J. H. Gibson, Thomas Patterson, Senator A. Hocking, Benjamin Gallagher and H. McCallum. The witnesses were Lieutenant Coyne, N. G. H. Jim Sherwood, John Ritch, Lieutenant Renken of the mounted patrol and H. Mortensen, foreman at the Punahou stables of the Tramways Company.

Full particulars of the movements of the unfortunate victim, from early morning until the time of his death, will be found in the testimony of the witnesses as detailed below:

H. Mortensen, foreman at Punahou stables, sworn, stated: Saw Welch at 6:50 a. m. He had just come from Palama, in which vicinity he lived. Said he wished to be relieved, as he was feeling very badly. He had been sick all night. Deceased was not a drinking man. Knew him from the time he reached the islands, five or six years ago. He was sick for about five weeks four or five months ago and was forced to quit work on that account. Since that time he had been working steadily. Welch had no relatives in the city.

Lieutenant Renken overheard Welch say to a driver: "I am going to lie in the water for a half hour."

Lieutenant Coyne testified—First saw deceased coming out of the bath-room. Saw him get into the water. I was fishing on the pier. He swam out around the pier and shouted, "What luck?" Told him it was too windy for fish. I then left and returned to the house. Coming back to the main beach entrance, I noticed Welch floating in the water with his face under. This struck me as very peculiar and I ran to John Ritch—Jim Sherwood's assistant—telling him that I thought a man had been drowned. Ritch called Sherwood, and together we ran out on the beach. Ritch taking the pier. Sherwood rushing into the water and I following. Ritch and Sherwood hauled the man out of the water and tried to resuscitate him, but life was extinct. The body was found about eight feet off the end of the pier, just about in the same position where it was when he spoke to me. The water at that place is about 44 feet deep.

Jim Sherwood—Was in bed at the time Welch came. First I knew about the matter was when Ritch came in. I ran out and jumped in after the man but it was too late. We laid him out and telephoned to police headquarters. It was between 9 and 10 o'clock.

John Ritch Welch came and asked me where Sherwood was. Told him he was in bed. Asked for a bathing suit which I gave him. Left me some money and a silver watch to take care for him.

Dr. Emerson—Have examined the body of deceased and find that he came to his death by drowning. The peculiar position of the face in the water and the arms and legs hanging down lead me to believe that he fainted or had a fit while in the water which brought about unconsciousness. Remember a case of the same kind that happened on Long Island. Position was the same.

The jury returned a verdict of death by accidental drowning.

An incident in Welch's life is well remembered by Lieutenant Coyne and others. Lieutenant Coyne was commanding a detachment of soldiers on the road to Nuuanu Cemetery, to bury one of their comrades killed by the leper Koolau, at Kalaial, Kanai.

Welch was coming along in a street car. He was angered because the soldiers would not get out of the way, and drove into them. He was arrested and tried, but got off. Lieutenant Coyne was principal witness for the prosecution, and was the first man to see Welch after his death.

There was a goodly number of people at St. Andrew's Cathedral Saturday afternoon during the funeral services of Harry Welch, the unfortunate car driver who was drowned at Long Branch on Friday.

Rev. Alex. Mackintosh read the service and Wray Taylor presided at the organ. Rev. and Mrs. Mackintosh sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

The remains were encased in a very good coffin and kind friends were liberal in their donations of flowers. The pall-bearers were six of the Tramway Company drivers. Among the persons in the church were W. H. Paine, manager of the Tramway Company; F. A. Schaefer, Mr. Gilbert, Fred Macfarlane and a number of others who knew the deceased and admired him for his attention to passengers when they were on his car.

The expenses of the funeral were paid by the Tramways Company, and the employees who wished to attend were permitted to do so without loss of pay.

HAWAIIAN SUGAR LANDS.

Eastern Capitalists Will Make a Heavy Investment.

CLEVELAND (O.), Oct. 24.—William Blaisdell, capitalist and promoter of Honolulu, has been in this city for the past week engaged in interesting Cleveland capitalists in a scheme to obtain control of the best sugar cane producing land in the Sandwich Islands. Wealthy gentlemen have taken hold of the project, and a company will be formed at once and capitalized at $3,000,000. The land in question consists of 15,000 acres, located fifteen miles from Honolulu.

This dispatch refers to the new sugar plantation which B. F. Dillingham and others are incorporating. Mr. Blaisdell made a visit to Honolulu some months ago and arranged with the projectors of the scheme for a visit to certain capitalists in the United States and to interest them in it if possible.

Mr. Dillingham was seen Saturday regarding it and admitted this to be the case. He had heard from Mr. Blaisdell that parties in San Francisco were willing to subscribe to $200,000 in bonds of the new company, and others in New York would take as much more, and he would go East and meet them. His intention was to visit Duluth as well, and from that point Mr. Dillingham received his last dispatch. He presumed his visit to Cleveland was on the strength of something that had developed since he last heard from him.

It is learned from a gentleman who was with Mr. Blaisdell in San Francisco lately, that there seemed to be no doubt of the agent's success in securing sufficient subscriptions to guarantee the starting of the enterprise.

As soon as they are completed the enthusiasts at the place will roll up their sleeves and begin practice in good earnest.

Sudden Death.

J. M. White, an elderly gentleman, was found dead at his home in Kikihale shortly after 7 a. m. Sunday. He was seen in his back yard at 6 a. m. by Sam Kamakau, of Lovejoy & Co. When found, he was on the floor between the wall and the bed with his eyes and mouth open. He had been ailing for some time, and was confined to his bed for two or three days previous to his death. Dr. Emerson made an examination of the body and pronounced paralysis the cause of the man's death. The deceased was at one time employed by the Tramways Company as track superintendent, but of late years has not been at work.

Yamamoto, the Japanese who hit Officer Espada with a long pine club during the Japanese fight on the evening of November 4th, was sentenced to three months imprisonment at hard labor in the police court Saturday.

A STABBING AFFRAY.

A Chinese Boy Almost Disemboweled.

ATTACKED ON A STAIRWAY.

Stabbed Without Warning—A Plantation Laborer the Culprit. Escapes but is Captured Later—The Wounded Man in the Hospital.

(From Monday's Daily.)

What may prove a fatal stabbing took place in a Chinese lodging house on Hotel just off Maunakea street between 3 and 4 p. m. Sunday. Ah York, a fifteen year old Chinese lad was stabbed in the abdomen by Wong Look, and now lies in a critical condition at the Queen's Hospital.

Wong Look was formerly a plantation laborer on Kauai and came to Oahu about four months ago, obtaining work at Heeia. Just recently he came to Honolulu on account of illness and took a room next to that of Ah York, who occupied one with his uncle, Tong Chee, the landlady.

Wong Look disappeared Saturday night and returned to his room at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. He was drenching wet, and after hanging his clothes in the window, retired to bed, rising at about 7 o'clock. During the morning he was very busily engaged in sharpening a butcher knife with a file. He lounged about his room saying nothing to anyone and acting strangely.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon Ah York went down stairs with two buckets, and after filling them with water returned indoors and was stabbed by Wong Look on ascending the stairs.

No one saw the occurrence, but it is supposed that as the boy was ascending Wong Look rushed down from his room and stabbed him before he knew what was happening.

When the police officer on duty near the place arrived on the spot the boy was found doubled up at the foot of the stairs. Both the buckets were near him, and in a dark corner the butcher knife, covered up to the hilt with blood, was found. The wound appeared as if the boy had been stabbed and the knife wound around two or three times. The victim was removed to the hospital and his injuries attended to.

Immediately after stabbing the boy Wong Look escaped over the back fence toward No. 5 engine house. He was seen in company with another Chinaman and two native women living in the vicinity.

Detective Kaapa sent men out on the track of Wong Look as quickly as possible. It is supposed that he made for the other side of the island, where he has a cousin. One of his friends, who lived in the same room with him, was arrested and held for investigation.

About a quarter past 11 last night information was received at the station house that the stabber was in the neighborhood of the rooms of the Tong Hing Society. Lieutenants Hart and Needham, with some officers, were dispatched to the locality, and on arrival were directed to a room in a two-story house opposite. Needham went up stairs and found his man crouched behind a door. He was at once placed under arrest and taken to the station house and identified by a Chinaman who lived in the same house. He was afterwards taken to the Queen's Hospital and identified by the wounded boy, who, up to that time, had been getting along nicely, but after seeing his assailant he began vomiting blood.

It was learned last night that the boy was very frugal and saved all the money he earned except what was actually necessary for his expenses.

The supposition is that the prisoner intended ransacking his room if he had succeeded in his attempt to kill him.

A SKETCH OF ITS PROGRESS.

Started in 1817 as Small Trading Combination—Changes in Membership of the Firm—Sailors Who Came From Boston—Integrity and Enterprise.

James F. Hunnewell of Charlestown, Mass., gives the following interesting sketch of the house of Brewer & Co. for publication in Thrum's Annual for 1896:

The existing house of C. Brewer & Co., Ltd., like many a state or nation, began at a distant date under a different name, and is a result of the growth through the changes of time and circumstances rather than of any one definite act. If an exact date and a single act are to be assigned, it was on Monday, December 8th, 1817, when James Hunnewell, officer of the brig Bordeaux Packet, agreed with Andrew Blanchard, master, to remain at Honolulu—where they then were—after the sale of the vessel, and dispose of the balance of her cargo and invest and forward the proceeds. This was the beginning of the long business career of Mr. Hunnewell connected with the islands, and his first act in settling there.

After two visits at home, in Charlestown and Boston, Mass., and after acting as agent at the Islands for sundry parties, he, also acting for others, Bryant and Sturge among them, in 1826 he founded his own independent house in Honolulu. He stated (1863) that he in 1826 bought the premises still, when he wrote, occupied by C. Brewer & Co. In 1830 he added some land. In November, 1830, having spent most of the time for fourteen years abroad, he, as he was desired, returned home, leaving the business in charge of Henry A. Pierce, who had been a clerk with him.

At first business was generally in small transactions and by barter. Sandlewood was the chief native product of value in commerce, and indeed, it almost made the currency of the country. In the dealings through 1817-18, money is scarcely mentioned. "At one time," said Mr. Hunnewell—it was in 1818, "we were the only traders on shore at Honolulu that had any goods to sell. All our cash sales amounted to $104, and this was on an English captain and officers." If the present writer's memory is right, he has heard that this was a large part of the coin then in Honolulu.

By 1820, sales were, on the other hand, almost wholly for cash. American goods of nearly all sorts were received and disposed of on consignment, and this business was, for forty years, a large one in the transactions of the house. To it, in time, vessels were consigned. Whalers, scarcely mentioned in 1818, are frequently noted in 1820.

Before 1819, operations were under the old native institutions, and, in a measure of course, affected by them. In that year idolatry was abolished by native action, and a new order of things began. Christian institutions were established, and the usages of civilization were, by degrees, adopted. Churches and schools were soon flourishing, the language became a written one, and, on January 7th, 1822, the printing press issued its first page. This act, an important one in any country, was in the presence of many persons, Hawaiian and American. Governor Kamehameha struck off the first impression; Mr. Loomis, the printer, the second; and James Hunnewell, the third. The old house had a hand in starting this engine of civilization in Hawaii, among others not here mentioned.

A nation was transformed. Business, commenced under difficulties in the days of smaller things, was enlarged; it grew, indeed, with the nation that has constantly had friends and helpers among men in the house. General and unjust charges, it may be added, have been from time to time made against the business class at the Islands, but ample defense and facts for due tribute in their worth exist, especially as the history of this house from first to last demonstrates.

Mr. Hunnewell wrote an account of its early period that fills nearly twelve columns of The Friend for January and March, 1867. An Hawaiian poem on his old blue sea chest is in the same paper for April, 1867. Changes in the style and membership of the house have been rather numerous, and may now be told. About as many, it may be added, have occurred in the capital or ownership, which has been also successively held. The firm names will be given in italics at the head of the several paragraphs of the account.

James Hunnewell, who, beginning in 1817, had founded the house in 1826, transferred the business on his return home in November, 1830.

Henry A. Pierce then carried it on in his own name until 1834, when he formed a partnership with Thomas Hinkley, in style:

Pierce and Hinkley a firm lasting about a year, when ill health obliged Mr. Hinkley to retire. He left the islands and died before he reached home. Mr. Hunnewell, from whose papers these particulars are taken, seems to have had full confidence in him.

Captain Charles Brewer, who in the course of voyages had become acquainted with the Pacific, first arrived in Honolulu during the latter part of 1823, and settled there a dozen years after. He knew Mr. Pierce, and with him formed the firm of:

Pierce and Brewer, a firm lasting about eight years from the summer of 1835. Mr. Pierce, who had been twelve years from home, spent a year or more, 1835-37, on a visit there. In 1840, Captain Brewer, having been away six years, took his turn, and was absent until the autumn of 1841. In 1843, Mr. Pierce retired for residence in Charlestown and Boston, where he remained about thirty years. For the first time the house then took the name of—

C. Brewer & Co., a firm which lasted four years, 1843-47. On May 23, 1841, James F. B. Marshall and Francis Johnson had formed a partnership, styled Marshall & Johnson, for "transacting a general mercantile business" at Honolulu. With them Captain Brewer joined, and to them transferred his business when he came home in 1845. August 31, 1847, the partnership of these three expired by limitation, and a new firm took "the warehouse recently occupied by them" and also the business under the style of

S. H. Williams & Co., a firm that lasted from 1847 to 1850. The members were Stephen H. Williams, James F. B. Marshall and William Baker, Jr. June 17, 1848, Benjamin F. Snow was admitted a partner. During this partnership the discovery of gold in California helped to enlarge business, and also what whaling.

B. F. Snow (as he signed) on September 16, 1850, reported (by letter to J. H.) that he was "successor of the firm of S. H. Williams & Co." He continued to receive business that had gone to that house. On February 21, 1856, he departed for New York, and left his affairs with B. W. Field. The succession in the house, however, was through

Charles Brewer, second, a nephew of Captain Charles Brewer, with whom he had been, 1843-1845. Contemporaneously with Mr. Snow he was in business, and also doing that which went to the house, and all, or most of it, by 1856. In September, 1859, Sherman Peck joined him, and the firm again became

C. Brewer & Co., a style that has continued from 1859 to the present date, often with no one by the name of Brewer in it at Honolulu. In the period 1859-59, or thirty-three years, there were four, 1849-47, when it had been the style. Mr. Brewer retired in the summer of 1861, and October 8th, Mr. Peck was joined by Charles H. Lunt, who had arrived during the preceding month. In August, 1862, they were joined by H. A. P. Carter. Mr. Lunt, who returned to Boston in the summer of 1862, retired in May, 1863.

All the members of the house who have been named are now (1895) dead. This sketch of the changes during forty years 1826-66, may very properly be followed by another with brief notice of their personal history, which will show their thoroughly New England character and their services, public as well as mercantile.

James Hunnewell was born, in Charlestown, Mass., February 10, 1794, and died in his home there May 2, 1869. His family of Hunnewells had lived on Massachusetts ground for over two centuries, and his mother's, Frothingham, since 1630. He married Susan Lamson, whose family had been as long in the state. In him the missionaries and the natives had one of their best friends. At his death the King, Kamehameha V., in a valued letter to the present writer, said: "The name of the late James Hunnewell was early associated with the commercial interests of these islands, and his long and useful life was marked by such constant goodwill to my kingdom, that I shall always cherish his memory with sincere regard. Although he was only removed in the fullness of time, I deeply sympathize with you in the loss of such a parent, but I congratulate you in the inheritance of such an honored name."

Charles Brewer was born in Boston, March 27, 1804. He was descended from Daniel Brewer, who settled in Roxbury, Mass., in 1632, and died on ancestral ground at his home in Jamaica Plain. His funeral, October 13, 1885, was attended by a remarkable representation of Hawaii. In 1840 he married Martha D. Turner, at Charlestown, where her father was a Universalist minister, 1814-25. He was much esteemed, and although little in public life, so called, he was widely and well known.

Henry Alpheus Pierce, son of Joseph H., was born in Dorchester, Mass., December 15, 1808, and died in San Francisco, July 29, 1885. For about thirty years he lived in Charlestown and Boston, and married Susan R. Thompson, of an old family in the former city. He traveled extensively in Mexico and South America. He was a pioneer in the sugar industry at the Islands, but was too early in and out of it to realize its gains, and lacked success in an attempt at the South after the Civil War. After leaving business he was, from July, 1869, to September, 1877, the Minister of the United States, resident in Hawaii.

James Fowle Baldwin Marshall, son of a native of Boston, was born there in August, 1818, and died at his home in Weston, Mass., May 6, 1891. He arrived at the Islands in 1839. He married Martha Twyross Johnson, of Charlestown. His public services in and for Hawaii, especially her independence, were distinguished. After leaving mercantile business he was during the civil war in the Sanitary Commission, and later a Paymaster-General of Massachusetts for the army—there were all told 150,000 men that the State sent to the front. In this office he had the rank of Brigadier-General. Like the accounts of the old Honolulu house, his for the Commonwealth were of the first class. After the war he joined another Hawaiian worthy, General S. C. Armstrong, and, 1870-84, became a manager of that great benevolent institution, the Hampton School for Hawaiian, African or Indian, his work was good and enduring.

Benjamin F. Snow was born in Boston, and at the age of 60, in Honolulu, December 19, 1866 on the fortieth anniversary of his arrival there. He died, greatly esteemed and respected.

Charles Brewer, second son of Isaac C., of Boston, was born there September 14, 1823, and died in Honolulu, June 4, 1893, another good New England Hawaiian.

Sherman Peck was born in Berlin, Conn., December 28, 1800, and died in Honolulu, June 17, 1871. His first American ancestor was Paul Peck, who arrived in Boston in 1635 and the next year became one of the early settlers of the Connecticut Colony. Sherman Peck was widely esteemed. Henry A. P. Carter was born in Honolulu in 1837; was educated in Boston and retired from business in 1874. He died in New York, November 1, 1891. At the Islands he had "almost every position of honor and trust" there, among other offices that of Minister of Foreign Affairs. In 1876, and later, he was the Minister Plenipotentiary of Hawaii at Washington, where he had an honorable and honored place among the diplomatic representatives of the world. Nations larger than Hawaii would be well off if they always had a representative as good and able.

The old house, of which the earlier history has been told, still flourishes, one of the very few American houses outside the United States and not many there of its age or nearly its age. No house begins and continues as it has, except on sound principles steadily practiced. Integrity, enterprise and well made accounts have always been its characteristics. Besides their thoroughly good mercantile qualities, its managers have been at least as noted for their services in good citizenship, in philanthropy, and in public affairs—and this estimate of their character and conduct is here expressed by one who has personally known, or known of, both from the beginning.

This account of the more distant past may well be followed by another on the history of the house during the last thirty years. In closing this it is only justice to say that few houses have had, and still have, a roll of members better or more widely known. Their past and present are worthy of each other. We all know the high position and reputation held by the living president of the company that the house has become. In religious and in political affairs, as well as those of business, we cordially esteem, and we wish long life to Peter Cushman Jones. And to the several other good men in it we also wish long life, especially to that sterling merchant, patriot and philanthropist, who would honor any community, the Hon. Charles Reed Bishop.

THE PERKINS Steel Mill. DIRECT MOTION Simple, Strong, Efficient.

NOTE THE FOLLOWING POINTS OF ADVANTAGE:

THE WHEEL. The sections of the wheel are made with two-inch steel bands for outer and inner rims, and the sails are riveted to these rims at their outer and inner ends. Please note that the outer rim is not ten or twelve inches inside of outside ends of sails as is the case with other mills. Our plan of construction obviates the bending and breaking of the ends of the sails, a serious objection to most steel mills. To make the sails still more rigid we connect each sail, near the middle of its length, with the sail on each side of it, by means of bolts. The sails are of best cold rolled steel, and are of such size as to give us more wind surface than is found in any other mill of which we have knowledge. The sails are set at just the right angle and curved to give the maximum power.

THE RUDDER. Most careful attention is given to the construction of the rudder, making it firm, strong and thoroughly braced. The arms of the rudder are made of the best tire spring steel, which is better than angle or channel steel or gas pipe. Our truss rod brace will prevent the rudder from warping or swaying around against the wheel.

THE REGULATION. The governing device has made the Perkins mill very popular, and has been acknowledged by competitors to be the best, and would doubtless be used by all of them but for the expense of making the change. By our adjustment of the rudder we place the wheel square to the wind while at work and edgewise to the wind when at rest. The same long and short steel hinges are used to raise the rudder when mill is out of gear or at rest. This plan has proved so satisfactory that eleven companies have adopted it since our patents expired.

THE CASTING. The main casting of this mill has been carefully designed with a view to securing great strength and durability. In its construction only the best iron is employed. It is well adapted to its work.

THE BEARINGS. All the bearings of this mill are of liberal length and provided with our graphite bushings or self-lubricating box. These do not require oiling at all. In fact, we are now making mills with no oil holes in boxes.

THE OTHER PARTS. All of the remaining parts of this mill are made with good proportions, of the very best materials, and in the most approved manner.

THE SIZES. We make this mill in two sizes, viz., with ten and twelve foot wind wheels.

THE TOWER. The tower is made with four corner posts of angle steel, bands and braces of channel steel, all parts being fitted by template so that they fit exact, and all a workman needs to erect is a hammer, punch and wrench. The ladder is securely made and ready to bolt on tower. It is safe and far preferable to the short steps on corner posts used on most towers. The anchor post is five feet long, of good heavy angle steel, and a base eight to thirteen inches in diameter, according to the size of mill and height of tower, is cast on the end of same, serving the double purpose of a support under foot of tower and an anchor. Just at the top of ground we fasten a piece of 4x4 inch oak in angle of corner posts, letting it run down about two feet, to give it more size in the ground. The arrangement of the bands and braces is such that they support the corner posts at three different points, where other towers have but a single support, thus making our tower three times as secure against buckling in extremely strong winds. This plan was originated by us and is fully protected by patents.

Gould's Windmill Pumps of all sizes are furnished with the above mills. We have Steel Windmills 8, 10 and 12 feet diameter, also Wood Mills of 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18 feet diameter. We will furnish catalogues and descriptive matter to any one desiring information.

THE PORTUGUESE MISSION

A Very Interesting Paper Read on Sunday.

The Result of a Donation—How the Work Has Progressed—The Central Union Offering.

The following paper was read at the Central Union Church, at its morning service, Sunday, November 10th, by Wm. A. Bowen, and is now printed at the suggestion of Pastor Birnie and other friends of the Portuguese mission:

THE BEGINNING.
It was in 1887 when some of the good people of Central Union church began to notice the increasing numbers of Portuguese children in the streets of Honolulu, and they commenced to ask, "What can we do to benefit them?" As a result a Sabbath school was started. This was the beginning of organized Protestant work for the Portuguese, the nucleus from which sprang the present mission.

THE ENCOURAGEMENTS OF 1890.
Three years after the establishment of this Sabbath school, the importance of the work was so emphasized in the mind of one of the members of this church that he offered $5000 to the Hawaiian Board for the establishing of a Portuguese mission; provided, however, it should all be used that year—1890. The Hawaiian Board was not slow in accepting this generous offer, especially in view of the fact that, that same year, there had come to them a petition from the district of Hilo, signed by thirty Portuguese residents, asking for what they called "The American Religion."

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE MISSION.
Dr. Hyde, who was in the States, was asked to get Portuguese workers. He went to Jacksonville, Ill., and there secured Rev. A. V. Soares and wife, and Rev. Mr. Baptiste. In December of 1890 these workers, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Fina, arrived at Honolulu, and the First Protestant Portuguese Mission of the Pacific was fully established. Mr. Baptiste was assigned to Hilo, and Mr. and Mrs. Soares to Honolulu.

THE CHARACTER OF THE WORK.
The work has been of both secular and religious character. There has been a regular week day instruction to children, as well as a Sabbath instruction. Preschool services twice each Sunday, one regular midweek prayer meeting, house to house visitation, personal hand to hand work, Bible readings and all other work usual to missions have been successfully carried on.

THE GROWTH.
While I understand the results have been very encouraging at Hilo, I am not prepared to make report, at this time, concerning that branch of the mission. In Honolulu there is a church membership of forty-five, with a Sabbath school whose attendance is about 125. Also a branch Sabbath school has been established at Kakaia, where the attendance has been as high as sixty. The congregations at the church services on Miller street average seventy-five to eighty-five.

THE OUTLOOK.
"The Portuguese constitute about one-sixth of the entire population of these islands and are rapidly increasing. They are a strong, sturdy race. They are worthy people. They have come to stay. Full rights of citizenship have been accorded to them, and they are, therefore, destined to hold a very strong influence here. They should have the best of secular and religious instruction." New opportunities are constantly rising. An appeal for a Portuguese Sabbath school teacher recently came from Patua valley. Miss Ferreira has established a Sabbath school at the Ewa plantation. Here in Honolulu "the teachers are wonderfully in earnest and enthusiastic." At one of our special Sabbath school exercises, one, who was present, went away saying: "Here, in these Portuguese, you have good material to work upon. You may hope for substantial and lasting results. It is a good work." And, indeed, we all feel encouraged to believe the work is peculiarly full of hope and promise.

THE NEED.
The Mission in Honolulu has really outgrown its accommodations. At special services there is no room for many who desire to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Soares have felt restricted, because of the limited room, about inviting ones whom they would be glad to have come. This is a real hindrance. It prevents many from coming under the winning power of special services. This is especially true of the Sabbath School. At our regular Sabbath School service (two weeks ago today) the attendance was 127. There were not seats enough for all. Children were holding other children on their laps. At our last Easter exercises, we succeeded, by filling up all the aisles, in crowding in fifty-eight more than that, or 185 in all. But this ought not to be. Last Sunday the funeral services of Mrs. Soares took the place of the Sunday School, and were held in this church. No one, who was present and saw all these center rows of seats, and many side rows, filled with the Portuguese themselves, can for a moment doubt our necessity for more room.

Plainly a new and larger building is necessary. There is also great need for increased accommodation for day school and kindergarten instruction. More apply for admission than can be received. A transient officer of the Government was recently somewhat perplexed when he came bringing fourteen Portuguese children of school age, to find that they could not be received, even if that were the place for them.

THE PLAN.
It is proposed to build a large house for church and Sabbath school services, and to convert the present church into the much needed school building. The Hawaiian Board cannot undertake this extra expense, but they have thoroughly endorsed the plan, and encourage the attempt to raise funds. When the Morning Star was built it was done by the organized accumulation of the little, as contributed by Sabbath school children. Following this idea certificates of contribution with a view of Sabbath schools and Christian Endeavor societies taking hold of it. But thus far there has not been ready response. Letters have been sent out here, in these islands, and the results from them are yet to be determined.

THE APPEAL

The whole Mission is unanimously in favor of and hearty endeavor to bring about the new church. Mrs. Soares hoped for it and prayed for it. Her whole heart was in it. She was a great winning power for Christ. The children are keen and intelligent, and they desire it. Indeed, I have never seen children readier to respond than they. Investments of money in their behalf will bring sure and large returns. From a careful business standpoint it will prove profitable. Considering the fact, that the Portuguese are so large a proportion of the people of these islands, and that the children of today are the men of tomorrow, and that they will have, as their parents have today, the full rights of citizenship, a great responsibility rests upon us all, and rests upon us now. Shall we accept it? Shall not these islands be held for Christ? Can you not and will you not help to this end by contributing for our much needed new church. "We believe the work is of God." "He loveth a cheerful giver."

GO WORK.

[Original poem read before the Young People's prayer meeting of the Christian Church.]
Hark! It is a bugle call I hear—
Strung are its notes, and full and clear:
Out from the Throne of God above,
Come His commands in infinite love.

Forward! The order to you and to me—
Up, do your duty—work faithfully;
Cease thy replings and murmurings too,
Do with your might when God tells you to do.

"Why stand ye idle?" Why still delay?
See how the foe gathers thick on the way,
Buckle on the armor "Take ye the sword!"
Dare to be valiant for Jesus our Lord.

Christ our Great Captain has promised His aid,
Then why should you linger, why be afraid?
Press forward with vigor, strike down every foe
That hinders your progress in Christ's work below.

Each day do your duty, each day take part
In lifting the burden from some aching heart;
Be manly and faithful, honest and true;
Do unto others as you want them to do.

Be gentle and loving, tender and kind,
Ready to carry "the light to the blind."
Firm in your purpose, and true to our Lord;
Be watchful and prayerful, and study His Word.

Despise not the weakest nor vilest you find,
For Jesus is loving, forgiving and kind,
He bids you be thoughtful, unselfish and brave,
Remember—He came poor sinners to save.

Then give to His service the best that you can,
In helping Him carry out His great plan,
By telling the sinner, who on Him will call,
Salvation is free, there is pardon for all.

When thus you have passed through battle and strife—
Through temptations and conflicts attending this life;
And weary and worn, shall long for sweet rest,
King Jesus will welcome you home to the blest.

Dr. C. Clifford Ryder.
Dr. C. Clifford Ryder has his professional card in this issue. The doctor is well known here through the valuable assistance rendered by him during the recent cholera scare. Dr. Ryder, it will be remembered, was selected by Consul General Mills to be United States sanitary inspector.

He came here to relieve one of the government physicians during a vacation but has decided to remain in Honolulu. As the efficient surgeon of the California State Women's Hospital and through some of his delicate and skillful surgical operations he built a large practice and became one of the best known physicians on the coast.
